Our Goal

Omega Massage has originated from the customers response of an "all in one massage chair." We combine striking appearances with adjustments and features developed to be the most advanced massage chair of its kind. Our goal is to provide you with a superior product that has every function and adjustment that you could ever want, while supporting your needs of a strong and reliable massage chair. Omega Massages' goals are to improve upon existing models of massage chairs in all three aspects of performance, aesthetics and quality. This is our pledge we promise to fulfill in the present and the future. Our commitment to excellence allows us to develop technologically advanced massage chairs with noticeable appeal and attractive designs.

Research & Development

Omega's manufacturers have an extensive Research and Development program where all of the chairs arriving in the U.S. are tested for quality assurance. Omega's origin has received the sought after ISO-9000 approval for quality standards. To maintain the International quality code, the manufacturing location must adhere to strict policies and procedures when producing goods to be ISO approved. The approval is among the hardest approvals to be granted, due to its strict nature of excellence. Omega has gone through great lengths to bring you products that can alleviate discomforts in your everyday schedule. You can expect in the present and the future, Omega's commitment for value, quality and excellence, will be its undertone in its R & D program.
